Suing Bank of America, 10/19/10
Kathy Patrick, Gibbs & Bruns LLP

1 KATHY PATRICK: Uh, well, uh, to use his
2 metaphor, it's not a question of buying a Vega
3 and wanting a Mercedes. It's a question of buying
4 of Vega and getting a Vega. That's not what 5 happened here. There were representations made to 6 my bondholders when they purchased these 7 securities. They are contractual representations
8 about the credit quality of these mortgages.

9 And, uh, our clients are concerned that 10 the mortgages in question did not, at the time
11 they were securitized, conform to those 12 representations. And, uh, it is hardly surprising 13 that our clients want those contracts to be 14 performed and performed as promised.

15 MARIA BARTIROMO: So, how long are you
16 willing to go for this? Uh, uh, and, uh, how much
17 are you looking to--to push in terms of a, uh-- 18 uh, a dollar amount, in terms of, uh, seeking the 19 best outcome for the clients? Tell me, uh, how 20 far you're willing to take this.

21 KATHY PATRICK: Uh, well, our--we're 22 willing to take it as far as it needs to go in 23 order to get the contracts enforced in the way
24 that they're supposed to be performed. Uh,
25 obviously, uh, this is a loan-by-loan issue. It--
