Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45 (c), (d), and (e) (Effective 12/1/07)

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(d) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) Contempt. The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

Re: In re the application of The Bank of New York Mellon
(Index No. 651786/2011) (“Article 77 Litigation”)

Dear Justice Kapnick:

Enclosed please find a letter submitted by the members of the Steering Committee to Justice Bransten in MBIA Insurance Corp. v. Countrywide Home Loans, Inc., et al. (Index No. 602825/2008).

Plaintiff MBIA recently submitted a request to Justice Bransten to remove the “Confidential” designation from several categories of documents exchanged between MBIA and Bank of America/Countrywide in that case. The Steering Committee submitted the enclosed letter to Justice Bransten to support MBIA’s request to de-designate those documents so that they may be publicly filed.

Public access to these documents would streamline discovery in the Article 77 proceeding. Many of the issues that have been litigated in the MBIA litigation relate to Bank of America/Countrywide’s liability for its residential mortgage backed securities and are similar or identical to disputed issues before Your Honor. Accordingly, if the documents in the MBIA litigation are made available, it would likely reduce the burden on the parties and the Court in the Article 77 proceeding.

Respectfully submitted,

Daniel M. Reilly

Re: MBIA Ins. Corp. v. Countrywide Home Loans, Inc. et al.
(Index No. 602825/2008)

Dear Justice Bransten:

I represent American International Group, Inc. and its affiliates (collectively "AIG") in the Article 77 proceeding currently pending before the Honorable Barbara R. Kapnick, captioned In re the Application of The Bank of New York Mellon (Index No. 651786/2011) ("Article 77 Litigation"). Through the Article 77 Litigation, the Bank of New York Mellon ("Trustee") seeks judicial approval of an $8.5 billion proposed settlement with Bank of America over liability arising from 530 Countrywide-issued residential mortgage backed securities ("RMBS") trusts. This proposed settlement is a matter of great public importance that will affect thousands of investors who have holdings in those trusts.

The Intervenor-Respondents and Objectors in the Article 77 Litigation formed a Steering Committee which consists of my firm, Keller Rohrback LLP, who represents the Federal Home Loan Banks of Boston, Chicago, and Indianapolis, and Miller & Wrubel, P.C. The members of the Steering Committee respectfully submit this letter in support of Plaintiff MBIA's Order to Show Cause why confidentiality restrictions should not be removed from the following categories of documents in this case: (1) party deposition transcripts; (2) documents used as exhibits in party depositions; (3) expert reports; (4) documents used as exhibits to expert reports; and (5) materials relied upon by expert witnesses. (Order to Show Cause at 2.)

Removing the confidentiality restrictions on the documents would reduce the burdens and costs on the parties in the Article 77 Litigation and would further the interests of judicial economy. The documents in question could potentially provide RMBS investors in the 530 trusts with information concerning loan file integrity, putback liability, successor liability, servicing deficiencies and resulting losses. That type of information would help investors (and the court) evaluate the reasonableness of the $8.5 billion settlement amount, which is one of the primary purposes of the Article 77 Litigation. In light of the number of investors implicated by the proposed settlement, there is a clear public interest in the disclosure of additional facts that will allow those investors to evaluate the reasonableness of the proposed settlement amount. The documents subject to MBIA's request to remove confidentiality restrictions are therefore important to both the Article 77 Litigation and the public more broadly.

For those reasons, the Steering Committee supports MBIA's request to lift the current confidentiality restrictions and respectfully requests that this Court grant that request.

Respectfully submitted,

Re: In re the Application of The Bank of New York Mellon
(Index No. 651786/2011)

Dear Matt:

I write in response to your designation of portions of Professor John C. Coates' deposition testimony on May 24, 2013. Because we will call Professor Coates to testify at trial, this designation is improper under CPLR 3117.

Although you do not specify which section of CPLR 3117 you rely on, no provision permits the designation of Professor Coates' deposition testimony. Professor Coates is not a party, so Rule 3117(a)(2) plainly does not apply. CPLR 3117(a)(3) is also inapplicable because it applies only to witnesses who are unavailable at the time of trial. See, e.g., Barnes v. City of N.Y., 44 A.D.3d 39, 47 (1st Dep't 2007) ("The tenor of all of CPLR 3117(a)(3) is that a person capable of testifying in person and subject to judicial process or a party's control so as to compel the testimony should be on display before the trier of fact and subjected to the rigors of confrontation and cross-examination.") (quoting Connors, Practice Commentaries, 7B McKinney's Cons. Laws of N.Y., CPLR C3117:8); Dailey v. Keith, 306 A.D.2d 815, 815 (4th Dep't 2003) (denying request to introduce deposition testimony under CPLR 3117(a)(3)(ii) "given 'the law's preference for oral testimony in open court'" (quoting Siegel, N.Y. Prac. § 358, at 559)). The analogous federal rule has been interpreted the same way. See Wright & Miller, Fed. Practice & Procedure § 2146 ("If a nonparty witness is available to testify, the deposition cannot be used in lieu of live testimony . . .").

In light of the above authority and our representation that Professor Coates will give live testimony in this matter, I ask that you withdraw your designation of Professor Coates' deposition testimony. In the event that you do not withdraw your designations and the Court rules the designations will stand, we expressly reserve our right to provide responsive designations of his testimony.

Sincerely,

Michael A. Rollin
